Many Amer are who alternately blow hot and cold on the practicality of airships will find themselves wondering again why Germany can operate airships successfully and the United States cannot when the LZ-120 the newest German ship launched next month The LZ-129 successor to the aged Graf

Sepjelle has been built according to specific requirements for passenger accommodations it will carry 50 passengers and a crew of 43. It is almost twice as large as the Graf Zeppelin which has covered a distance equal to 43 trips around the world The ship will be used as the Graf Zeppelin has been used for regular service between Germany and South America.

There are two aspects of the German interest in airships which are not given sufficient attention. One is the fact that Cermany is interested primarily in commercial use of the airship and is supporting a lighter Han air industry on that basis The United States was interested in the military use of the airship it does not know what it could do with airships in the hands of private operators backed with a

The second fact neglected by Americans who wonder why Germany holds such a lead in construction and operation of air ships is German pride and ambition the reich the Graf Zeppelin and now the 1.Z-129 represent the same kind of achievement as the Normandie represents to l rance and as the Queen Mary represents to Great Britain. It is a spectneular ad vertisement of the German nation which pays for Miself Indirectly If the United States were to go into airship construction and operation on the same basis it very likely would have the same success Ger

Those Who Were Saved.

The annual report on lynching complied from records kept by Tunkogee Normal and Industrial institute has been issued It shows there were 20 persons lynched in the United States in 1935. That was five more than were lynched in 1934 night loss than the number for 1933 and 12 more

The most interesting fact in the report is not the number of persons lynched but the number of lanchings averted by prompt and courageous action on the part of offi cers of the law. In 53 instances nine of them in northern states and 44 in southern states mob action was blocked by pre-

eautions and armed force
Here is the nub of the lynching brob lum Eventually it may be possible to preuntil it is possible to persuado all in habitants of the United States that it is helier to trust law than mob force the best way to prevent lanching is to demand that the police power be used against it

The proposed federal lynching law is practical to the extent that it recognizes this fundamental fact by prescribing punishment for officials who wilfully are negligent in performance of their duty when confronted by mobs. It is of course for easier for a sheriff or other responsible official to look the other way when a lenching mob runs loose particularle in southern communities where race feeling is intense

Twenty lynchings in a year is deplorably probably would have been 50 more had not police officials performed their duly the United States can be thankful that the belonce still is hearler on the side of order than it is on the side of mob violence

A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR

a body of changing moods and purposes convenes in January The country on is the occasion as one old friend might await the return of another if congres, will have changed whole it has

This kind of expectancy leads to such things as the American Lilberty leagues latest statement which is a demand for congress to adopt the leagues own reac tionar, political platform. The planks of that platform show plaints that at least one group of Americans expects a funda mental change in the congressional mood and purpose

It is highly improbable that the change will be as great as the American Libe to league likes to believe it might be but a change is nevertheless expected by other sections of opinion far more favorable to Jouett Shouses cor . vative organization. to one be even our rese will be the same

The en ire membe ar p of the foure and a trird of the serve will be thing . abo. reclect in. In law so cers we guarar red by a stiring com, reaccord with President I reserve whose populars ty has sustained the inevitable or east thing is the result of a term in h p sal dency Congress will be less to ril and more critical. The nutber s and days have enfed

There seems no presiblity at a exent however that congress will be in a greed to aubstitute a new ir grain for the socalled new deal program it may be more hostile to executive leadership than before and it may be critical of Mr. Rossive! but there is Ittl likelined of aggrees t positive app a tor

The American liberty league and al other organiza i ne an i individuels de mandir a solition of virtually everything the naw deal has meant so far undoubted / know how slim is the chance of an over turn. Yet they persistently demand it. It would seem they are better equipped with bitterness as d stubbornness than with the practical philosophy which would make both bitterness and atubbornness seem un wise as means of jetting results in a poilif cal campaign

Uses Of Adversity.

Most o survers of politics agree that the nost sufnerable point in the political front catablished by the Democratic party is abuse of relief appropriations. Much of the oppositions attack will be directed at

Those is wide disagreement as to the extent of the blame which can be traced directly to the party a national leadership Obviously even with the lest intentions on the part of the highest officials handling ullef money corruption is bound to creep into such a huge organization. Local politicians of the pratical school are found by the arrupulous policy of their

The Republican party of course will make the most of whatever abuses of re ller funds it can discover It will charge tha the Democratio party has used relief money to buy favor for its candidates as well us to intimidate the party's opponents Little difficult. Is expected in producing plonty of dunights, evidence

Value dis Democrats will squirm and fune under the alnd of atlack which their opponents plan to make. Lat there is a bright side to the prospect. Democratic leaders know perfectly well there have been abuses in the handling of rollef money They know also that they lack the power to discipline all members of their party completely enough to make corruption impossible. They have admilted as much in statements at various

Therefor Instead of resenting criticism which increasingly is becoming their atti tude they at least should seem to welcome it There are sweet uses of adversity and criticism of the handling of relief money is one of them. To the extent that the Republican party s effort to reveal abuses and to stop them is successful the Demo cratic party will be the beneficiary. If its members all could be frightened scrupulous honesty the jarty would be strongthened at its most vulnerable point as far as defense is concerned. If it were possible to believe that the Democratic party as a whole wants to be strong henci at that point everything would be levely Not Practical

Perhaps when historians squint through the years at the World war and the period following it they will conclude that the most Important new thought benefited in numan minds was a collective conclusion that military warfare as an effective in strum at of compelition is outmoded

With the world armed more havily than mer before with a wir raging in Lithlopla and proceeding methodically in Chinese territory and with greater wars threaten ing in Lurope such a surmise thuy seem There is however one redeeming leature in an otherwise gloomy scene

No statesmen not even Premier Mussolini dares to claim that war is worth its cost Ilaly which is courting bankruptcy and economic disintegration for the sake of obtaining African territory of uncertain value inevitably will lose more than it will gain. When and if the Italian masses become aware of that fact the mortial spirit of fascism will become an unpleasant memory Juan of course is in less danger of disillusionment because its mill tary activities unless they are permitted to awaken Russian rel military giant bear less resemblance to war then to economic senetration of a wealthy terri apable of defending Itself

Other nations though prepared to wage war are unwilling to fight except in desperation. Always in the min's of their people is the realization stronger than hatred or pairiotism that war is not practical Even the statesmen who use the threat of war so freely in their perilous game of foce diplomact pray that no one will call their bluff. If they precipitate war it will be through error not through deliberate inten ion

Many distillusioned ref rmers who hoped to resolve wir out of exstence are saying andly that they fale! The dejarlment of limite 1 already resive under the multiplicity of laxabity as it has cen called a deas been trying to get the courts o convol dat, he test but the er increasing expense to the 60 errment and the loss of time and morely to the officers of the companies into ved is not joing to to materially distinsished even if the test are cut down in number in a particular calegory of case. For every company will feel it has to protect its own rights like vise the joints at issue are no always the same.

Perhaps the roost succities to the less the process.

Perhaps the most aignificant development in the light battle being, waged over the constitutionality of various pieces of new deal legista ion is the change it may make in the attitude of the courts them salves. Thus hitherto there has always been a presumition that an act of congress is constitutional and it has been up to the containant to use time he burden. the complainant to usume he burden gress is constitutional and it has been up to the complainant to nexume he burden of proof that the law is not valid. Now hose for all the long ross being formally notified by the President that it should pass legislation however reasonable may be its nan loubts as to constitutionality and with the law officers of the government flash tuking the lossing ment enforcement of cer an laws IIII the test cases have been adjudice at the courts may be urged by var our jetitioners to look in other question of conditutionality without any previous presum; for us to validity. It may even framptice that the age-old principle of not inquiring into the intent or mather of congress will be nearthrown. For if congress is not trying to resolve doubts in favor of the Constitution and is merely trying to get arount the Constitution than it becomes alliquited joint whether the property of the legislative body may not be legislated in a fire and it is not trying to fire a statute.

Most of the cut of ginst the new detay of the legislative body may not be legislated to find out the matter of a statute.

Most of the circ of the the new deri-are in correction with the AAA but the number on the national labor relations act and the Cuffey act and public utility act may directly and in lirectly invalve in the ent a combined lot if the next as large. The structure is unprecedented because congress has chosen to disregard the prin-ciples of newload existence of the surpress ciples of previous decisions of the supreme on an explorator, course This may be one way to discover the scope of the Constitution but amendment in the way provided in the Constitution but amendment in the way provided in the Constitution itself has been niger by the other school of thought as the preferable method

Coolsy the famous commentator on constitutional law has this to say on that some point

Legislators have their authority measured by the Constitution. They are chosen to do what it permits and nothing mor and they take a selemn outh to obey and support it. When they disregard its provisions they usure authority abuse their trust, and violate the premise they have confirmed by an outh.

trust and violate the premise they have confirmed by an orth. To pass an act when they are in doubt whether it toes not violate the Constitution is to treat as of no force the most importance the obligation any persons can assume A business agent who would deal in the manner with his principals business would be treated as intituativeth, A wilness in court who would treat his oath thus lightly and affirm this geomeoring which he was in doubt would be their definition.

way out of course is for congress The way out of course is for congress to set up nonpartisant countissions of ad visus. It was to know the constitutional law of America and have sudied listance precedents. If in the face of such advice the congress chooses to disregarl past precedents on the theory that a new set of facts or a different application of a writefulle has been ease of line law, then set of their or a different applies and or a principle has been ende ed little table there would be little rillician of the action of congress in voling its own concluding. The frouble really is that there was never any floubt at all about the unconstitution ality of the NRA and nine justices of all schools of thought by their unanimous vota sistence on enacting laws in defiance of the ARA decision that is causing so many law salts. For naturally the critical feels forti-fied by such a unanimous or lation and goes fled by such a unanimous of lation and poes into anott even more confident that congress he tray pressed his tights. This is burgely the season for the many suits in the Cutter coal act—which the President unged in pite of constitutional doubts—and in the lation relations cases. It does look as if 1936 will be a arrest year for lawyers.
